One of the young lady compositors in our office has one of the cheapest kind advertised—$8—which runs well, and keeps good time, looks well, and seems to fulfill all the requirements of a high-priced watch. The chain sent with the watch is of exquisite design and high finish. See their advertisement in another column.

A letter from an American gentleman traveling n Europe alludes in warm language to the beneficial result of Secretary Boutwell's policy in stregthening the credit of our Government abroad. It might be had been made to landing the cable. It might be due to the same kind of enterprises, perhaps to Mr. Field, his colleague; but he did not care for that. He was sure the American people would not he unjust; they would not allow any Company to spend a million of money to unite two great continents together without giving them a fair show at least. He believed it would be weak on the part of the Company to ask for undue sympathy. If they could not work as well with a rival Company, or faster, they had no right to public sup-port, and would not get it, whatever the public sympathy might be. The cable was therefore laid as a purely commercial enterprise, and every right-thinking person trusted it would promote weapon of war.

Mayor Shurtliff read a congratulatory despatch received by him from the Prefect of Paris, with his reply thereto. Speeches were made by Lord Cecil, G. W. Loring, Charles T. Woodbury, and others. There will be a levee in the evening at the house

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—The N. Y. Herald says has been rumored in Washington that belligerent rights will be accorded to Cuba by our Government within ten days. Bets to that effect are offered. LONDON, July 21 .- In the House of Lords, last night, the Irish Church Bill, as restored from the House of Commons, was taken up. Earl Granville complimented the House of Lords on the ability statesman developed in the late debate, and the moderation shown by the opposition towards its close. The Government thought some of their amendments good, and some bad, and others quite inadmissable, but did not consider that the Commons dealt with it superciliously or contemptuous ly, for, of sixty amendments, only thirteen have been absolutely rejected. He analyzed the amendments having the effect to re-endow what the bill intended to disendow, and said that concurrent endowment the Government was obliged to consider a breach of faith with the Constitution, while the overwhelming majority of the House of Commons and public opinion were opposed to it. In respect to a disposal of the surplus fund the more he saw and heard the more he was convinced it was disadvantageous to keep the question open; he deprecated the proposal to keep £3,000,000 dangling before the people to excite agitation, and urged the House not to adhere to its amendments. He proposed the reinsertion of the words which were struck out of the preamble of the original bill.

Lord Cairns complained in strong terms that the pledges that the Lords amendment would be respectfully considered, for, on the faith of this promise, many who objected to this bill or its own timated that the invaders of Canada were a set of merits, were induced to vote for a second reading. Gladstone had used language unworthy of himself and his position. He contended the amendments which had been rejected, except two, had been disposed of without the slightest consideration. He hoped the House would insist on a reservation of the surplus for future disposition. On the amendments in respect to curates and commutation of life interests, Earl Kimberly said the Government could not give way.

Earl Grey thought the words in the original preamble were offensive to the religious majority in Ireland, and urged the Government to concur in Lords Halifax, Clanricarde and Shaftsbury supported the Government, and the debate was continued to a late hour by Earl Russell and Marquis Salisbury, who urged resistance to the demands of the Government. NEW YORK, July 22 .- A Herald special from London says the Cabinet Council this afternoon was unusually protracted, and did not break up till a late hour. No definite result was arrived at. New York, July 22 .- The Herald's special says: The die is cast and the struggle has begun. The Lords and the country bave finally come to an issue, in consequence of the abrubt termination of the debate last night. Intense excitment prevailed among political circles during the day. The Cabinet has been in session all the afternoon, and reports are affoat that great dissensions exist in the Council. Gladstone, Bright and Low, and all the strongest members, insist on an immediate withdrawal of the Irish Church bill, on the ground that obstinate resistance of the Peers to its principles renders a direct conflict between the two Houses of Parliamenut inevitable. Some members of the Cabinet, Lord Clarendon among the number, advocated more moderate proceedings, such as letting the bill take the usual course and only abandoning it at the last moment. The insulting language used by Salisbury towards Gladstone, joined to the large majority cast against the preamble, however, shows any attempt to effect a compromise is useless. There is but little doubt that Gladstone will carry a withdrawal of the bill immediately. This will be followed by a speedy adjournment, the calling of another session in August, and the creation of a large batch of new Peers sufficient in number to overcome the present Tory majority. Placards have been posted on the walls to-day headed "Shall the people or the Lords Rule?" and calling a mass meeting at Arundel Hall for to-morrow. This will be followed by a monster open air demonstration. Rumors are affoat that the

With that view and that sentiment everything which took place at the conference accorded. He agreed that the question of date was of secondary impor-tance. He declared that he was ready to accept the original date. He advised the Lords not to insist on their amendments in regard to curates, ecclesiastical residences, or commutation of annuities. The Tory Lords held a large meeting at a private residence, and resolved to repudiate the Marquis of Salisbury and put themselves under the lead of Lord Cairns. The atter was authorized to make peace with the Ministers and express the willingness of the Peers to yield to-day. Lord Cairns sought an interview with Earl Granville, and gave in the submission of the Peers, whereupon the Cabinet agreed to the compromise announced to-night.
